

NEWS

PROJECT

UFIL - Urban Forest
Innovation Lab

📍 Cuenca, Spain

TOPIC

Jobs and skills in the local economy

EDIT 07 MAY 2020

BY ROSSELLA SOLDI,
UIA EXPERT

Fostering local skills and innovation capacity in the forest sector: UFIL's first journal is out

See on UIA
website

In this first journal edition of the UFIL project, the UIA Expert Rossella Soldi presents the challenges and the solutions implemented by the City of Cuenca in the implementation of this innovative project, aiming at fostering local skills and innovation capacity in the forest sector.

The first year of the UFIL was dedicated to the development of a solid organisational structure, setting the scene for a future strong engagement of citizens and stakeholders. The Journal also describes how Cuenca was able to quickly react to the different problems and barriers faced (from the political deadlock determined by local elections to the necessity to fine-tune project's organisational, communication and reporting arrangements elections), adopting alternative solutions that managed to keep the project still on going and on track.

See on UIA website

