Climate Shelters Journal 2: update on Barcelona's project

In this second Journal, Constanitnos Cartalis guides us through the progress and the achievements of the "Climate Shelters" project; he describes the challenges, including the ones due to the covid-19 pandemic, during its implementation up to the October 2020 and refers to the ones to be faced in the remaining period of the project. The intention of the Journal is to present the processes that led to the implementation of the activities as well as to describe the tools and methods used to overcome challenges.
